Valiantys today announced it is expanding into Germany through the acquisition of kreuzwerker's Atlassian consulting business with the support of Keensight Capital, one of the leading private equity managers dedicated to pan-European Growth Buyout¹ investments.

kreuzwerker is one of the leading Atlassian Platinum Solution Partners in the German market, being the first to achieve the ITSM and Cloud specializations, and recently recognized as "Atlassian Partner of the Year 2021" in "Customer Experience".

Valiantys has already strengthened its leading position as a global Atlassian partner through recent acquisitions including Addteq's consulting services and Expium. Valiantys has a significant presence in Europe and North America, with ambitions to continue expanding and growing its talent base.

This combination will bring together Valiantys' global operations and deep expertise in Agile at Scale transformations and managed services, thanks to kreuzwerker's strong presence in the German market for Enterprise Service Management.

"The DACH region is absolutely strategic to Valiantys' future and is one of Atlassian's largest markets" said Lucas Dussurget, CEO, Valiantys. "kreuzwerker's team is world-class and we're very excited to see them join our Swiss team to establish Valiantys as a leading Atlassian Solution Partner in the DACH region²."

"We are delighted to be joining Valiantys. With their support and existing capabilities, we will be able to serve our DACH customers even better with a global presence as well as access to specialists on Cloud Migrations, ITSM, Agile at Scale and Work Management," said Tilman Muerle, Managing Director Atlassian, kreuzwerker. "In Valiantys we have found kindred spirits who are fully aligned with our culture, and our passion for delivering ambitious transformations using Atlassian solutions."

"Once again, Keensight Capital has contributed to Valiantys' expansion, but this time in Europe after having supported Valiantys in North America with the previous acquisitions of Expium and Addteq's consulting services. With kreuzwerker, Valiantys will have a stronger presence in the DACH territory and a reinforced business services management expertise. We are delighted to contribute to the development of this great success story," said Philippe Crochet, Managing Partner at Keensight Capital.
